Active rest

In Lielborne you will find an old park created on the terraces and a 2-kilometer walking trail. Illumination of the park in front of the owner's house will lead you to the pond of the windmill and the waterfall. On historical places there were built leisure objects with views of the ruins of the windmill, ponds, rapids of the River Borne and the Nature Park "Daugavas loki". In the park of the manor you can see two centuries-old trees: oak and elm, as well as the eyes of visitors will also be pleased with a larch and an unusually beautiful pine. In the shade of old trees grow new decorative seedlings that harmoniously co-exist with the wild plants that grow here.

In addition to walking in the wide park, photographing or just meditating on the banks of the Daugava, you can also find active entertainment. There is a fascinating playground for children, a rope track for young people and a climbing wall. The most betting people will be able to compete in agility of walking on a slack line or on a street exercise machine. Guests of the manor are provided with bicycles, boating, winter quad biking, as well as horse riding, including equine-assisted therapy.
